

Mark H. Blankenship, Ph.D.
Executive Vice President and
Chief People, Culture & Corporate Strategy Officer
Jack in the Box Inc.

Mark H. Blankenship, Ph.D., is Executive Vice President and Chief People, Culture & Corporate Strategy Officer for Jack in the Box Inc. He is responsible for the company's Human Resources, Compensation & Benefits, Jack's University, Training & Development, Consumer Intelligence & Analytics, Internal Brand Communications and Corporate Strategy process. Blankenship also serves on the board of The Jack in the Box Foundation, a non-profit organization that focuses the company's charitable donations to make a difference in communities where employees, franchisees and guests of Jack in the Box® restaurants work and live.

Blankenship joined Jack in the Box Inc. in 1997 as Division Vice President of Training, and later was named Division Vice President of Training and Development and Field Human Resources. In 2005, he was promoted to Vice President of Human Resources, and in 2010 he became Senior Vice President and Chief Administrative Officer. He was promoted to his current position in November 2013.

Prior to joining Jack in the Box, Blankenship was Vice President of Human Resources for Mitchell International, a San Diego-based company that provides information products, software and e-Business solutions to the insurance industry.

Blankenship has a doctorate and a master's degree in industrial organizational psychology from the California School of Professional Psychology in San Diego and a bachelor's degree in psychology from California State University, Sacramento.