Tracy Faber is currently Human Resources Senior Vice President for McKesson's U.S. Pharmaceutical business, the nation's largest pharmaceutical distributor. McKesson is the largest pharmaceutical distributor in North America and the nation's leading health care IT company with sales over $112 billion.

Prior to McKesson Tracy was the Human Resources Vice President for PepsiCo Sales and Marketing. With PepsiCo for over 13 years, Tracy assumed HR roles of progressive responsibility within the organization. Her tenure was primarily at Frito Lay in various field operations and sales HR generalist positions, including holding the position of North Division Sales HR VP for Frito Lay North America, as well as specialist roles in the Labor function, to include Labor VP for Frito Lay North America.

Tracy is the recipient of the PepsiCo "Great Place to Work" award for her organizational impact as well as the Frito Lay "Roger King Lifetime Achievement Award for Outstanding HR Excellence." Tracy was also published in HR Magazine with Alec Levenson, of the Center for Effective Organizations, for a Frito Lay Human Resources Analytics Project, titled Count on Productivity Gains.

Prior to joining PepsiCo, Tracy worked at Eaton Corporation and Nabisco. Tracy has her Bachelor's in Social Science from Michigan State University and her Master's in Labor and Industrial Relations from the University of Minnesota.

Tracy left PepsiCo for a brief sabbatical to pursue a personal, lifelong goal – an attempt on the summit of Mount Everest in April/May of 2011. Tracy came within 2,000 feet of the summit, reaching a high point of 27,000 feet before turning back. Read about the expedition on her blog at www.tracywitt.com.
