

Jennifer Hedding

Senior Vice President, Corporate HR
Hewlett Packard Enterprise

Jennifer Hedding is the Senior Vice President, Corporate HR for Hewlett Packard Enterprise.

In this role, Jennifer is helping to accelerate HPE's transformation through leadership, performance and talent management, culture, and HR strategies and solutions focused on creating an employee experience that drives performance and delivers business results.

Under Jennifer's leadership, HPE has designed organizations to support its future-state operating model, delivered HPE's global culture initiative, and defined HPE's executive traits to drive business success.

Jennifer is known for her ability to drive global business success and impact in the technology sectors most respected brands. Prior to her current role, Jennifer led Yahoo's line human resources organizations in the Americas, EMEA, and APJ, including joint venture responsibilities in Japan and Australia. Jennifer has also served in senior human resources leadership positions at Salesforce.com, HP, Applied Biosystems, and Apple.

Jennifer is an advisory board member of the Center for Effective Organizations at the USC Marshall School of Business and a board member of the Sea Crest School (K-8) in Half Moon Bay, California.

Jennifer has a Bachelor of Science from California State University. Jennifer lives in Half Moon Bay, California, and is married with two children.